

THE OLDEST LIVING THING!

In the chill mountain air of California High Sierras mountains, a group of Pilgrims will trudge through the snow on Christmas Day. Deep among the majestic redwoods, they will gather at noon, at the foot of the tallest tree of them all.

Above the crackling of the fires that they will build to keep warm, they will at noon raise their voices in singing Christmas Carols.

Many years ago this started and has been done each